

Internship Experience ●

— Claire Yin

“ WTS China promotes a work-life balance lifestyle. ”

WTS China is deeply involved in the field of fiscal and taxation consulting. Its professional talents and rich practical experience around the world present to us a complex and interesting world of fiscal and taxation, which is beneficial to the long-term personal development of employees and interns, which is mainly reflected in the following aspects:

● ● Professional knowledge ● ●

The work at WTS China has allowed me to jump out of the students' thinking framework, to reflect on my knowledge reserves from the perspective of practical application, and to drive myself to learn knowledge outside the test paper framework in complex and diverse problems. WTS China provides ample learning opportunities to its employees. In these three months, I participated in about 20 training sessions here, including the company's internal training every Friday and sharing with colleagues from Singapore, India and other places. I was also fortunate to collect information and prepare for a training. In addition, the weekly group English sessions also helped me gain a lot in business English. In addition, participating in the preparation of transfer pricing documents, searching and sorting out relevant fiscal and taxation regulations, etc. prompted me to actively learn fiscal and taxation knowledge. The various fiscal and taxation issues that I did not understand in the documents also urged me to broaden my knowledge reserve. Unlike people's stereotypes of being boring and boring about internships, WTS China's internships provide a fast-growing environment for a student.

● ● Behavioral aspect ● ●

In the fast-paced and efficient working atmosphere of WTS China, through observation and practice, I gradually learned how to communicate decently and clearly with all parties involved in the work, and what professional qualities a professional consultant should have. WTS China has the Four-Eye principle, which ensures the perfection of details by double-checking each document. WTS China's attention to detail is becoming one of my code of conduct, because I realize that this is the most basic requirement for showing professionalism and seriousness.

● ● Vision ● ●

WTS Global has established branches in more than 100 countries and regions around the world, and most of its customers are industry leaders. WTS China provides a valuable international context for a student. In such an internship, we can learn about the systems, regulations, and organizational operation modes of various countries and regions. We can also try to further study and think about larger issues such as the trade situation of various countries and the development trend of the global market.

From 18 June to 18 September, the three-month summer internship at WTS China is about to complete. I am very grateful to WTS China for giving me this internship opportunity. Just as I learned during my entry orientation, WTS China promotes a work-life balance lifestyle and discourages employees from working overtime. I deeply agree with this concept. The work-study balance experience when I hit an internship at the end of the semester made me realize that time planning, energy management and concentration on each task are the three cores of multi-tasking, and it is also a prerequisite for quality assurance. ❤️
